"Mother's recipe"

Here is a recipe that is one of my family's favorites--Tom's Mom gave it to me when we were first married:

Mary Ann's Whoopie Pie Recipe

*2/3 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
4 cups flour
1 cup cocoa
2 tsp. soda
2 cups milk
2 tsp. vanilla
dash of salt*

cook at 350 for 12 minutes

Whoopie Pie Filling

*3/4 cup Crisco
2 cups confectionary sugar
2 egg whites
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. salt*

*mix all together
beat with hand mixer*

"SAP POP" (similar to a porridge)

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup maple syrup
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup hot water
 $\frac{1}{3}$ cup flour
dash salt (opt.)
1 egg, slightly beaten

Boil together water and syrup.
Add flour and beaten egg.
Texture will be lumpy.
Cook over low heat for 5 minutes.
Serve with milk.

This seems to have been a Flewelling original.

"Pass the Maple Syrup please!" The snow held other joys for us. When Grampie Charles hurt his back while building a barn, Uncle Milton became manager of the farm. He used to go in the winter time to the maple trees in the "back woods" to tap them for maple sap. He would drill a hole in a tree with a brace and bit, about 3 feet above the ground, knock in a hollow plug, and hang a sap can from the plug. Every week he would drive his sleigh with a 70 gallon puncheon on the back to collect the sap. One of my joys was to go along and ride over the rises in the snow which he called, "Yes Ma'am's." In the spring all the family would go up to the maple woods to wash the sap cans in a huge trough, and "boil down" the sap into maple syrup and maple sugar. We loved the "sap pop" made from maple syrup and flour dumplings.

"Meat-Za-Pie"

1 lb. hamburger
2/3 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup fine bread crumbs
(can substitute stuffing mix)
1 t. garlic salt
Mix all together and put into 9" pie plate.

1 can (or cup?) of tomato paste
Spread on top of meat.

1 cup shredded cheese
Add on top of tomato paste.

1/4 t. oregano
1 T. parmesan cheese
Sprinkle on top of cheese.

Bake at 375° for 25 minutes.

Hint: For better taste, I put some of the tomato paste and cheese on the bottom of the pan.

A favorite of Margaret Flewelling.

Doughnuts

2 T. melted butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg.
1 cup milk
1 t. vanilla
1 t. soda
2 t. baking powder
1 t. salt
3 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour

Mix butter, sugar, and unbeaten egg together, add milk and vanilla. Then add dry ingredients which have been mixed together already and blend. Do not overmix. Just stir in until blended. Overmixing and overblending makes doughnuts tough. It is best if the dough is put into the fridge to chill for a while and that makes them easier to handle. Then roll out dough onto a floured board and cut. Drop into grease melted to about 350°. Turn a couple of times. It takes a couple of minutes to cook. Do not put too many into the grease at a time or it will cool the grease too much.

"The reason why I love this recipe is because the first time I made this is when Norman made it clear to me that he was interested. I was visiting the pastor's house in Elkins, West Virginia. George and Susan Monize were and still are pastoring there. Susan was showing me how to make whoopie pies. While we were making them, Norman (who was youth pastor) stopped over to visit. While he was there, he made a few comments to me...I'm not sure what...but evidently, Susan caught on that Norman was interested in more than just a friendship with me. While he was there, we shared the pies. And when he left, well, Susan and I had quite the conversation! We did get together at a much later date and we look back to that date as a memorable time for us when we think about and eat whoopie pies."
